EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, FEBRUARY 21.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Feb. 19, 1870.

Dear Sir: The following is a list of the officers of the Cartersville and Van Wert Railroad Company, viz:

Mark A. Cooper, President.
Robert A. Crawford, Superintendent.
W. W. White, Chief Engineer.
D. W. K. Peacock, Secretary and Treasurer. Very respectfully,

D. W. K. PEACOCK,
Secretary and Treasurer.

Iron Ship Building.

The introduction of iron ships was attended with great opposition. An immense prejudice existed against them, a strong disbelief in their utility was general, and the great number of employees and large amount of capital engaged in wooden ship building, whose employment was endangered, opposed them jealously.

But once started, they have grown in use with a marvellous progress. Their advantages are incalculable. Ships owners find that they are inestimably safer. The division of the ship into a number of water-tight compartments secures greater freedom from liability to loss, as multiplying the chances of safety. One part of the ship may be stoved in, and yet the ship sails safely. There are instances of a ship sailing hundreds of miles with even two of the compartments beaten in and filled with sea water.

No advantage possessed by wooden ships can compete with this ever-mastering one of the iron construction. An iron plate 8-16 of an inch thick is as strong as six inches of English oak. Iron ships were used as canal boats as early as 1812. Along at intervals, in 1822, 1830, 1838, and 1844, ventures were made with them. But it has been since 1851 that they have made their start.

The general method of building now is by a system of alternate lapping, every other iron plate resting over the edges of its neighbor.

The cost of building iron vessels is from $90 to $150 per ton. The English and French, the master ship-builders of the world, are using iron almost entirely. The use of iron in this country for the purpose is recent, and yet limited, but increasing. The American iron is the best. The iron ship building has to go on near the coal and iron regions.

With the vast coal and iron resources of Georgia, and by the aid of a judiciously cheap transportation, there is no reason why iron ship building should not become large on the coast of Georgia.

Shall We Have Big Things?

Superintendent Blodgett paid $20,000, last month, into the Treasury, and says he would have paid more, but for lifting old indebtedness to the amount of $100,000.

We learn that Harris, the Master of Transportation, advertised that he had brought from Chattanooga 200 car loads a day.

Take 150 car loads a day at $30 a car, and the road gets $4,500 per day; or for one week $27,000, or for one month $108,000.

This is not saying anything about local freights, passenger fare, mails, etc.

The public will expect the biggest kind of a payment into the Treasury for this month.

OUR AUGUSTA LETTER.

Bible in the Schools—Educational Items.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 19, 1870.

Dear Constitution: The telegraph informed your readers, a few days since, that the Superior Court declared void the resolution of the Cincinnati Board of Education. The eleventh proposition of Judge Hagan contains the essence of the decision. It is in these words:

"The pupils of the high schools read the Bible, with appropriate singing, and the Greek Testament, and there is no complaint; nor yet by children without parent; nor yet by those are worse than orphans. Our common schools can not be secularized, though it is a question whether it would not be better that they should be; but in view of the Constitution which we have taken the resolutions are void. In other views of the resolutions it may be said that Christianity is the prevailing religion in the State. The moral sense of the people is controlled by it, and whatever is opposed undermines the moral support of the laws and corrupts the community. It is not claimed that the Bible does not teach all the virtues and the graces that adorn private and public life. Finally, a thoughtful survey of our individual weakness and imperfection, will certainly teach us to cultivate a spirit of mutual forbearance and charity, and we shall the better labor for the elevation our race, and spread truth and civilization on the earth. The injunction must be made perpetual."

EVENING SCHOOLS.

New York City has fifteen evening schools for the especial accommodation of children, the surroundings of whose parents deny them the privileges of the day schools. Numbers are apprentices, and many needs look to the evening school as the only chance for improving their mentality. The schools begin in October and close about the 18th of February every year. Three of the instructions are for colored children—separate.

There is ample accommodation for 8,000 pupils, all told. Continuance in school during the whole term is made dependent upon the attainment of a certain standard of scholarships. This test diminishes the number wonderfully. At the commencement of the session just closed, 7,823 males were enrolled. Before the expiration of the term, the number was reduced to 3,004. Number of teachers employed, 281.

One of the truths of the times in which we live, is the absolute essentiality of guaranteeing to our prospective workers, in every department, the very best education they will take. We should arouse ourselves to a just appreciation of the superlative value of educated labor.

Front cover is a very good motto, but it shall never delay one from doing all the good he can, while in the way. Would it not be well for your Board of education, while discussing the best means of benefiting Atlanta and her growth, to agitate in their minds the practicability of organizing evening schools for apprentices, say for a term of three or five months in the year? $2,000 would more than meet the expenses.

NEW JERSEY.

The aggregate school fund of New Jersey amounts to $570,321, and the Agricultural College fund (derived from lands by Congressional grant) $116,000. During 1869, $1,553,353.75 were received for educational purposes. The State furnished less than one-fifteenth of this amount. Three-fifths the was raised voluntary taxation. 360,000 pupils in the schools; cost per pupil, per year, $4.31. $1,302,078 were expended the past two years in building and repairing school houses.

OHIO.

Total number of children of school age, 1869, 1,018,675. 740,302 pupils were enrolled in the public schools. $6,685,192 expended for school purposes. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction recommends the creation of the office of County Superintendent—a very important change.

MAINE.

The work in Maine demonstrates the practicability and great usefulness of the County Superintendency, and goes to establish the arguments advanced by the Ohio Superintendent in that behalf. Maine enrolled 226,143 public schools, between the ages of four and twenty-one. There are 4,012 school districts in the State, and 3,019 scholars. Amount expended, $1,082,106. 131 school houses were built the past year. 4,168 teachers. MIGNONNE.

Light Melange.

I.

FUNNY VERBAL AMBIGUITIES.

A miller attempted to testify to the merits of a powder for destroying vermin, by saying: "A fornight ago I was full of rats, and now I don't think I have one;" and in the column of "situations wanted," we read that a respectable young woman wants washing. An account of a funeral says: "The remains were committed to that bourn from whence no traveler returns attended by his friends. "Lost by a poor lad tied up in a brown paper with a white string a German flute with an overcoat on and several other articles of wearing apparel." The same trouble is fonnd in the following copy of a note sent to a gentleman by the overseer of his place; "Please send me by the boy a pair of trace chains and two door hinges. Jane had twins last night—also two padlocks." It will be seen that great care is required in the construction of sentences. A reporter once wrote: "The procession was very fine, as was also the oration of the chaplain." He afterward inserted, by a carat after "fine," "and nearly two miles in length," forgetting that this phrase also referred to the oration.

II.

THE INIQUITY OF TURKISH HAREMS.

Their conversation, which soon became absolutely tiresome, invariably touched upon things which in Europe are regarded as criminal, abominably indecent, filthy, and disgusting; and, having lived in three of the most magnificent of these gilded cages, she would not under any circumstances enter the fourth. Monstrous as may be the system of polygamy in Egypt, it is still worse in Turkey. There no fair sultana reigns paramount for a longer period than a year, for the sovereign of Islam has no consort. His mistresses are purchased slaves; he is himself the son of a slave. To sustain such a prince and such a system, Christian England and France combine, lest the cross may be planted over the crescent by the onward march of the Muscovite. The justice of Heaven will not always be delayed. Victoria was contaminated by the touch of Abdul-Aziz, and Eugenie shows a want of womanly delicacy in accepting the hospitality of the corrupt ruler of the harems. For the Sultan's crimes against humanity, the Moslem must sooner or later break up his encampment in European soil, and the vigorous Russian, in God's hands, will eventually be the avenger to punish the Christian countries of Cranmer and Fenelon for their support of Turkey, and the consequent abominations that flow from a government the foundations of which are licentiousness and the studied degradation of the race.

III.

ARE PHYSICAL ADVANTAGES NECESSARY TO ORATORY.

Messrs. Beecher and Chapin are probably the most popular of our pulpit orators, and these gentlemen possess all that breadth and robustness which the writer in the Review thinks necessary. Webster, better probably than any orator of modern times, had a presence which filled the eye; but his great rivals, Clay and Calhoun, while men of good presence, were without either robustness or massiveness. The younger Adams, known so generally by the soubriquet of the "Old Man Eloquent," also lacked notable physical qualities, and Randolph utterly excluded the idea of physical force. Patrick Henry was a man of very extraordinary appearance. Sumner has a commanding presence, but Alexander H. Stephens, the most fervent of all Southern orators, is notoriously diminutive. Douglas, it will be remembered, was always called the "Little Giant;" but Douglas, while short in stature, was not without a certain massiveness. There can be no question but that a physical presence is of great advantage to an orator; but the real foundation of success is in temperament, or in that magnetic force by which the speaker communicates his own fire to his hearers.

THE GEORGIA CASE.

A Hard Nut for Congress to Crack.

[Wash. Dispatch (16th) to Cincinnati Gazette.]

The Georgia case proves to be a hard nut for the Senate Judiciary Committe to crack. They spent the whole of to-day's session at it, and ended this evening just where they began. They are almost unanimous in dislike at the way in which things have been managed since the passage of the December reconstruction act. The chief cause of complaint being that General Terry held a military inquiry as to the eligibility of members of the Legislature. Some of the committeemen say this action was a clear and palpable violation of the spirit of that act, while others content themselves with saying it was contrary to the genius of our institutions.

It must be added, in behalf of General Terry, that his proceedings were over and over again sanctioned by the President and Cabinet, as they doubtless will be by Congress. The Committee hold that it is best, however, to get through with the reconstruction business as soon as possible, and they will probably bring in a bill for the restoration of the State, with the Legislature as it now stands. Governor Bullock and other State officials, set up a claim that they are now entitled to hold their several positions for the whole period for which they were elected, beginning at the present time. The committee will reject this claim quite decidedly, and probably signify in the written report, that a new and regular election must be held next fall. The Senatorial question is by no means the least difficult of the issues presented in this anomalous business. Hill and Miller were elected before the colored members were turned out of the Legislature, and many Senators last year argued that the proceedings at that body before this expulsion were all right.

The expurgated Legislature has now elected new men, who will be here next week with their credentials. The members of the committee are not yet able to give an opinion as to what action they will take on this issue. Bullock and the Legislature of last winter undertook to provide that the persons elected to the House two years ago should hold seats to the end of the present Congress, but this assumption was set aside by the House itself two or three weeks ago, and therefore the State will not be represented in that body this session, whatever result is reached on the Senatorial question.

[Washington Dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial, February 18.]

It is a matter of much speculation here to-night as to the action of Congress, will take on the Georgia Senatorial question. Joshua Hill and Dr. Miller, who were elected to the Senate two years ago, are now here asking for admission, and the telegraph announces that other Senators were yesterday elected by the present Georgia Legislature. The question was discussed to-day in committee, but every one is in doubt as to who will be admitted.

[Special to Louisville Commercial, 18.]

There is no sign that the Senate Judiciary Committee are about coming to a determination in the Georgia case. They worked at it for several hours this morning, only to discover that the questions presented are extremely embarrassing.

A QUALIFIED MINISTER.

According to the Press the Senators elect from Georgia are "more eminently qualified for the high position to which they have been elected." The only apply is to Foster Blodgett! He is under bonds for some forgery. But perhaps that does not disqualify a man from filling the seat of a Senator in an acceptable manner to the Radical party. [Philadelphia Age, 19th.

THRILLING ADVENTURE.

How a Lighted Candle was Removed from an Open Barrel of Gunpowder.

From the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

One of our oldest merchants, who is soon to pass away, and who formerly carried on business in Beaver street, residing—as it was the custom in old times—over his store, tells the following thrilling narrative, which he occasionally relates with thrilling effect:

A party had collected at his house to give eclat to one of those little family festivals which brighten the dark trace of life, and cheer the human heart in every clime. It was his daughter's wedding day; crowds of her young companions circled around her, and as the father gazed proudly upon the face of the young bride-elect wished as bright a prospect might open for his other children, who were gamboling merrily among the crowd.

Passing through the passage connecting the lower rooms, he met the maid servant, an ignorant country wench, who was carrying a lighted tallow candle in her hand, without a candlestick. He blamed her for this dirty conduct, and went into the kitchen to make some arrangements with his wife about the supper table. The girl shortly returned with her arms full of ale bottles, but without the candle. The merchant immediately recollected that several barrels of gunpowder had been placed in his cellar during the day, and that his foreman had opened one of the barrels to select a sample for a customer. "Where is your candle," he inquired, in the utmost agitation. "I couldn't bring it up with me for my hands were full," said the girl. "Where did you leave it?" "Well, I'd no candlestick, so I stuck it into some black sand that's there in one of the tubs." The merchant dashed down the cellar steps; the passage was long and dark, and as he groped his way on, his knees threatened to give way under him; his breath was choked, and his flesh seemed suddenly to become dry and parched, as if he already felt the suffocating blast of death.

At the extremity of the passage, in the front cellar, under the very room where his children and their friends were reveling in felicity, he discerned the open powder barrel, full almost to the top, the candle stuck lightly in the loose grains, with a long red snuff of burnt-out wick toppling the small and gloomy flame. This sight seemed to wither all his powers, and the merry laughter of the youngsters above struck upon his heart like the knell of death. He stood a few moments, gazing upon the light, unable to advance. The fiddler commenced a lively jig, and the feet of dancers responded with increased vivacity; the floor shook with their exertions, and the loose bottles in the cellar jingled with the motion. He fancied the candle was moving—was falling! With desperate energy he dashed forward; but how was he to remove it? The slightest touch would cause the small live coal of wick to fall into the loose powder. With unequaled presence of mind, he placed a hand on each side of the candle, with the open palms upward, and the distended fingers pointed toward the object of his care, which as his hands gradually met, was secured in the clasping or locking of his fingers, and safely removed from the head of the barrel. When he reached the head of the stairs the excitement was over; but the reaction was too powerful, and he fell into fits of most violent and dreadful laughter. He was conveyed senseless to bed, and many weeks elapsed ere his nerves recovered sufficient tone to allow him to resume his habits of every day life.

City and Suburban Affairs.

DR. CRANE gives his second Free Lecture in the City Hall, at 7½ o'clock this evening, "On Man, the Nature and Treatment of Diseases." His lecture and demonstrations last Saturday evening, gave great satisfaction. We advise all to hear the Doctor, and hope he will be induced to give a series of Lectures. The Doctor is well known in our city. His reputation is world wide as one of the ablest physicians and expounders of all the sciences and diseases relating to man. The Doctor is stopping at the National Hotel, where he can be consulted by all suffering with any form of chronic disease.

ATLANTA FIREMEN.—Atlanta, No. 1, with its elegant Steamer, and Tallulah, No. 3 with its "Ne Plus Ultra" hand Engine, left for Augusta this morning. The ranks of both Companies was pretty full. Some few were accidently left behind this morning, and will follow this afternoon. We learn that some of the members of Mechanic, No. 2, and Hook and Ladder, No. 1, have gone to Augusta to witness the celebration to-morrow. W. R. Biggers, Chief of the Fire Department, has also gone. In case of fire during the absence of the Firemen, we urge upon our citizens the importance of turning out on hearing the alarm, and assisting in working the Engines.

LOST HIS DINNER.—Yesterday afternoon, about two o'clock, as a young negro was carrying a dinner on a large tray on his head, and was crossing the Bay at the corner of Whitaker street, a sudden blast of wind blew the tray and its contents into the mud, breaking the dishes and scattering things promiscuously. Standing irresolute as to what step to take under the circumstances, he suddenly began to gather up the broken fragments, the meats, etc., and suddenly skedaddled amid the laughter of a number of witnesses of the accident.—*Sav. PERSONAL.—Colonel Thomas McCarroll Acton, the "Fat Boy" and heavy agent of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, paid our town a visit this week in the interest of that Ku-Klux paper, which is doing so much to demoralize the people of Georgia against the headquarters (Washington) of Radicalism. The Colonel, as usual, picked up several unsuspecting individuals, who, yielding to his suavity of manners and winning graces, subscribed to THE CONSTITUTION, which we are glad to say has a splendid circulation at this point—perhaps four times as many as any other Georgia daily.—LaGrange Reporter.

A FUNNY TALE.

Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Grant.

Immediately after the fall of Richmond, Mrs. Lincoln made up a party to visit the captured city. Some of the Cabinet officers of those days and some distinguished ladies were invited. On the boat, Mrs. Grant said, in conversation with Mrs. Lincoln, that she expected her husband to be the next President, and that she intended to do away with the observance of the usual etiquette, which did not permit the President and his wife to visit or accept invitations. Mrs. Lincoln at once stopped the expression of these views, by informing the General's wife, in a most crushing manner, that she (Mrs. L.) expected her husband to be re-elected for a third term, so Mrs. Grant's intentions in the premises mattered little. So it seems this setting precedent aside is no hastily formed conclusion.

THEM PROVISIONS.—An honest old darkey, whose expectations of getting a forty acre plantation and a domestic jackass, for voting the Radical ticket, were entirely sincere, now goes back on his friends in this wise:

"Dem ecrpet-baggettin' scalawag fellers, da tell us dar war persishons in the Constitution for we collud folks, but dat was a liedem persishons dinn's come. 'Fore God, massa, I aint seen de fust mon'ful."

Costiveness, Fever, Ague,

Bilious Fever, Dropsy and Jaundice.

These Medicines are purely Vegetable, and perfectly harmless; but their efficacy is too permanently established in all the Southern and Western States to require any further recommendations. The wise will not fail to give them a fair trial—this is all that is asked.

LAGRANGE, GA., DEC. 2, 1869.

MESSRS. CRAWFORD & WALKER, West Point, Ga. Gentlemen: Having witnessed almost daily, for the last fifteen years, the great efficacy of the preparation you are now putting up, known as "Abbett's Medicine," it affords me pleasure to state that I know of no combinations or preparation equal to it in the treatment of Liver Diseases of whatever character, and would cordially recommend it to all whose are suffering from derangement of the Liver, as especially the Dyspeptic.

I am very respectfully,
T. BRADFIELD, Druggist.

WEST POINT, GA., OCT. 15, 1869.

MESSRS. CRAWFORD & WALKER: Gentlemen—I can honestly and confidently recommend L. B. Abbett's Liver or Dyspeptic Medicine as prepared by you, to the favorable notice of the suffering public. Having used this Medicine myself in my family for several years, I can highly recommend it for removing pain or flatulency from the stomach caused by indigestion. It also has a happy effect in removing constipation of the bowels. I believe it to be the best universal remedy the world has yet discovered for the above named diseases. With my best wishes to you in introducing this valuable Medicine to the public, I remain, Yours, truly, A. K. KENDRICK.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, FEBRUARY 22.

☞ Samuel Tyler, of Maryland, is writing a biography of Chief Justice Taney. He was appointed by the Justice to the task.

☞ The London Daily News says that statistics show the superiority of American over both French and English surgery; while English is superior to French surgery.

☞ The Chattanooga Times says, in commenting upon the new Radical method of black mailing into circulation:

"What a blessing it is to have a good canvassing agent."

GIVE US THE LIST.—Blodgett, in his letter says:

"Upon the election in the Legislature, I received every Republican vote, without exception, while many among the Democrats, believing that I had been persecuted, without a cause, also voted for me."

Will The Atlanta Constitution favor the country with a list of these Democrats? [Columbus Sun.

We gave the list several days ago, with the exception of one gentleman, a Mr. Bennett, who, we are informed, states that he voted for Capt. Blodgett for Senator, because the Captain assisted him in getting his disabilities removed. We are informed that Mr. Welchell alleges the same reason for his vote.

Crops of Last Year.

Corn is more than two million bushels short, much of it spoiled, and the high price of pork induced a liberal consumption of it, so that the stock of corn is unusually small. The stock in store at all the markets is under the average. This would indicate a certain rise in the price of this great staple.

Pork is larger in quantity than last year, but the demand is increased. This would seem to indicate that the reduction in the price of pork can not be much.

The cotton planter, under the circumstances, can not do better than raise plenty provisions and less cotton.

Phonography in Courts.

Amid other improvements of this progressive age, the employment of phonographic reporters in the courts, is one of great advantage. The New York law authorizes it, also the Illinois, Ohio and Maine laws. It would do well here.

The advantages are patent. Absolute accuracy, saving the disputes that sometimes arise over testimony, complete records, economy of time, saving the tedious delays in taking down evidence. In taking up cases, it would be invaluable. In preparing caseet for application for pardon, it would give Executives the undoubted records.

The expense of such an officer would be profitably incurred.

Highly Creditable.

We are glad to state a creditable act on the part of the Hon. Dunlap Scott, the Representative from Floyd county.

We called attention, a few days ago, to the iniquity of the Radical members of the Legislature voting themselves pay for the two weeks during which the body took a recess.

To the great honor of Mr. Scott, he declined to take the per diem for the two weeks.

The amount thus drawn by the Assembly, for twelve days that it was not in session, and for which, under no law, is it entitled to compensation, amounts to over $20,000.

The action of Mr. Scott in declining the $108, his share, is highly creditable to him, and will be remembered kindly by the people of Georgia.

Congressional Eloquence.

There is, perhaps, no greater foe to true mesmeric eloquence than the custom of public men reading long manuscript speeches. It is singularly fatal to the fervor and electricity of genuine, burning oratory. Eloquence simmers down into a cold, stale delivery of cut-and-dried rhetoric. A correspondent of the New York World, thus alludes to the habit in Congress:

The practice of reading speeches, so fatal to the interest of the debates, is on the increase in the Senate. Mr. Carpenter, who is a fluent and eloquent speaker, yesterday read his remarks. Mr. Bayard, who speaks best off-hand or without note, read most of his speech to day. Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, evidently expects to rival Macaulay. Mr. Garrett Davis, who is a ready and practised debater, read his speech to-day; and thus is wearing away the fire and eloquence which has made the Senate famous in history.

More About that Indictment Against Capt. Foster Blodgett.

We are informed that when Capt. Blodgett, Superintendent-Senator, commanded a battery of artillery in the Confederate service, he published a challenge for a fight with the Sprague Battery, of Rhode Island That battery was raised and equipped by Gov. Sprague, now a Senator in Congress, from Rhode Island, and was highly lauded by the Federals for its efficiency.

Captain Blodgett's Confederate soul hungry for glory, was not satisfied with any common eclat, but burned for unusual distinction.

The challenge issued by the patriotic Confederate, is said to be in the hands of a gentleman to be used whenever the trial for fibbing shall come off in the United States Court.

As the Senator has thought proper to charge that there was simply a political persecution in this indictment, we have deemed it not improper to show that the Superintendent-Senator-Captain was simply and egregiously mistaken.

Poor Virginia.

Virginia is not yet fully out of the cold, it seems.

She passed the 14th and 15th Amendments before her admission. But the Radicals want her to do it again, now that she is a State, to cure any possible invalidity in her first ratification. A committee of her Legislature has reported against doing it.

Grant's organ, the Washington Republican, gets its dander up about this, and talks of a "punishment like that inflicted upon Georgia."

The Baltimore Gazette thus comments:

Poor Virginia! She verily believed, doubtless, that Congress had peremptorily required her to do all the "amendment" business before she was "admitted" at all. She therefore hastened to finish it up. It seems now to be demanded that she shall go on without so much as a request from a little epauletted upstart, much less Congress, to "do it again." Pray, when is this farce to stop? Is she required, whenever her Legislature assembles in all time to come, to confirm and affirm and re-affirm the ratification of those precious amendments? Will the Republican inform the good people of that Commonwealth how often "ratifications" are required to make them legal? Or how many times her "honor demands" these ratifications? so that she may know how to steer clear of the fate of Georgia?

Florida Again.

The Memphis Avalanche has a long and interesting letter from a gentleman who has prospected in Florida thoroughly. He gives the following additional items, however, in regard to the difference in the capacities of the various portions of Florida, which we reproduce to complete the picture:

Now, a word to the emigrant. If you wish to cultivate a general farm crop, such as can be reared in Southern Georgia, settle along the railroads in the northern parts of the State. If you want tropical fruits as a specialty, settle on Indian river. If fruits, vegetables, and convenience to market is desired, get on or near the St. Johns. If sugar-cane, long staple cotton, society, schools, etc., are wanted, go to Marion county. If cattle raising is the occupation sought, get somewhere between Lake Monroe and Indian river, or near Charlotte harbor. If you wish to go into the saw-mill business, anywhere on the St. Johns or the Oclewaha, especially at Melonville, is admirably adapted to it, if timber has not been cut away too far from the water. A small saw-mill might do well in almost any interior neighborhood.

If a hermit's devil-may-care, good, easy, lazy, half beggar, half philosopher sort of existence is the desideratum, build a hut on an island in the Indian river, get a boat and you are fixed in the most salubrious clime in existence, and of all places, the easiest to make a living in. Remember that Florida, though old, is a new state. Great privation in some particulars must be endured, especially in regard to markets, society, etc. But the population is rapidly increasing, and real estate has, in many places, whilst declining in other Southern States, advanced in this one a thousand per cent. Those who visit it in the winter for the benefit of the climate, are the wealthiest and most highly educated people in New York, Boston, and other Northern cities. Last year, it is said, they numbered 30,000, of whom ten per cent. were confirmed invalids; this year only about 8,000 have visited the State.

Valuable fisheries are carried on about Key West, Bay Biscayenne, Charlotte harbor, and all along Indian river.

ATLANTA, GA., Feb. 21, 1870.

Editor Constitution: My attention has been called to an article in Saturday's issue of your paper, signed A. L. Williams, in which my name appears, among others, as having overdrawn mileage. A superficial knowledge of the geographical situation of the homes of members from the Southeastern and Southwestern portions of the State, and a more intimate acquaintance with the facilities for travel in those sparsely settled regions, would have saved the honorable gentleman the time and expense of investigating what he more than intimates to be fraud.

He "only mentions a few cases that are before him," with a promise of a more complete list from Madison.

See his fairness—"T. G. Campbell and his son, 870 and 900 miles. The distance from here to Macon is 103 miles; Macon to Brunswick 185 miles; and from Brunswick to Darien 20 miles." The inference from this is, they have over-drawn for 572 and 602 miles. A full and fair statement upon his own figures only show 254 and 284 miles over-drawn. But what are the facts:

T. G. Campbell and son go, as any sensible men would go, by the way of Savannah From here to Savannah is 300 miles; from Savannah to Darien by water 135 miles; from Darien to their plantation 15 miles.—In all 450 miles, and return, total miles coming and going, 900.

The same honorable gentleman adds: "Virgil Hillyer, of Camden, St. Mary's, reports 1,030 miles, only forty from Brunswick," left in that way on purpose to give a false impression. I can inform the honorable gentleman that Camden is one of the largest counties in the State, territorially, and that I do not live in St. Mary's; that I choose my own way and mode of conveyance to get home. And that he may be more enlightened on the subject, I will add, that I came to St. Mary's by private conveyance, from St. Mary's by steam boat to Savannah—land and water travel 215 miles—from Savannah, via rail, to Atlanta, 300; total, 515 miles, and I expect to return the same way, making in all 1,030 miles. These claims for mileage were before the Auditing Committee, the chairman of which, though differing from me in politics, (W. M. Tumlin) is one of the most honorable, high-minded members of the House, and it seems to me, when they have passed upon a claim, he as chairman, it should be sufficient guarantee of its correctness. I have only referred to three of the cases. I presume the others are susceptible of the same explanation. If not, they can be reached by a more honorable, satisfactory way than through the public journals.

In great haste,
Very respectfully, yours,
VIRGIL HILLYER.

OUR PARIS LETTER.

A Yankee Church—French Religion—The St. Genevieve Festival—The Bonaparte Homicide—The Napoleonic Dynasty—The Paris of To-day—American Belles Take the Palm at the Tuileries—The Constitution in Paris.

PARIS, January 30, 1870.

Editor Constitution: It is a beautiful Sabbath day; the sun as bright, the air soft and genial as on a May day in our own South. I presume the good people at home are just about now on their way to Church. How I would like to join them. We have American Protestant Churches in Paris, and last Sunday the present writer attended one, but unlike Cataline we do not threaten a return. The place was, decidedly yankee—the congregation dressed yankee—the preacher preached yankee—the choir sang yankee—in short, the whole atmosphere was yankee. Our French brethren (I suppose we are all brethren dating from Adam) don't trouble their heads much about religious subjects; except now and then to some poor woman or laborer who steal into the great Churches of the Catholic persuasion, where they kneel on the cold marble for hours, confessing their human errors. The Lord's Day is one of much pleasure and rejoicing. Not long since there was held here a great festival in honor of St. Genevieve, the patron saint of Paris. Crowds daily wended their way to the Pantheon, and once your correspondent found himself going in the same direction to behold the mysterious doings inside. Entering the magnificent building, we beheld an immense throng pressing eagerly towards a gilded vessel in the shape of an ark, into which a Holy Father was dipping crosses, rings, keys, and all manner of trinkets, muttering at the same time some words. Desiring to have a nearer look at the vessel, I determined to have a ring that I had recently purchased christened; so awaiting my turn, I began to approach, after having my toes severely tested by some burly Frenchman, and bruising in turn a pretty girl's, who give utterance to the usual "mon dieu." I found myself in close proximity to the vessel. Casting several sous into a plate deposited for the purpose. I extended my ring to the good father who dipped it into some holy water and gave it back.

Excitement after excitement have succeeded each other in rapid succession in this Vesuvius-like city. First, we had the unexampled Troppman murder and his execution; then Prince Pierre Bonaparte, exasperated by the outrageous insults written against his family, shot one of the writers of the slanderous journals, and is now on trial before the High Court of Cassation for homicide.

The dead man's body was followed to the grave by one hundred thousand workmen, who afterwards collected on the Champs Elysee, shouting "Vive Rochefort!" and "Down with the Emperor." It needed but an Antony to show them "sweet Cæsar's wounds," and bid them speak, to rouse this mighty rabble "to rise and mutiny." But for the good of France, no second Antony appeared, since Rochefort, the vile Republican leader, was too cowardly to direct the storm his own acts had called into existence, and when the bright helmets and glittering sabres of the National Guard galloped to the scene of action, "the rats quickly found their holes." For days, Paris trembled on the brink of revolution, until the Government, coming to its senses, arrested Rochefort for inciting the populace to arms and condemned him to six months imprisonment, with a fine of 3,000 francs—a penalty hardly commensurate with his crime.

The French are not succeeding so well with their attempt at Parliamentary government, each day their irascible disposition leads them into fisticuffs from Parliamentary. The impersonation of the Parisians generally demands intense excitement, and I doubt not that Constitutional governments will be short-lived. Should the Frenchmen may tell you of the degeneracy of national institutions, and national traits by Louis Napoleon, but his is the only head that can lull the wild waves of popular commotion. Fanatics and demagogues may, by industriously adding fuel to ignitable passions, destroy, for awhile, the Napoleonic dynasty, but its impress is upon France, and ages can never erase it.

In the days of Louis Phillippe, Paris was a city of little beauty. Narrow, dingy streets—haunts of wickedness, where vice stalked unseen even at noonday, and dark deeds of crimes made night fearful. Behold these disappear, as if by the magic wand of some enchanter—giving place to wide, cleanly Boulevards, immense parks filled with sparkling fountains, shade trees and flowers, splendid dwelling houses, magnificent palaces, the beauty of which no city has ever equalled. Ascend the Arc de Triomphe, and look below. At your feet you have a city far more beautiful than that at which Boabdil, the last of the Moorish Kings, beheld from the Sierra Nevada, and shed tears of bitterness, because exiled from its loveliness. All this is the work of a Napoleon, as evidenced by the fact that nearly every street, every column, every palace, bears a name that reminds you of the Corsican House. Aye, raise Paris from its foundations, until not one stone be found upon another, and even there the great letter "N" will be seen upon every shattered piece of marble, as the mighty name of Cæsar gives life and glory to the ruins of Rome. Granted, said an intelligent Frenchman to us, that all you say is true, yet these improvements are not made for Parisians, but are made for strangers, who come here to live in luxury, and with whom the French are not rich enough to contend. On account of which you see that living is twice as expensive as two years ago. Yet, we answer, your parks and gardens are thrown gratuitously open to the public, and the increased price of living is not confined to Paris, for it is a well known fact that food and rent have increased in a two-fold ratio throughout the whole of Europe. No, it is not the despotism of the present government, but that never-ceasing desire for change, so highly characteristic of the French character, which is the cause of the cry for a Republic or return of the Bourbons.

Several nights since the first grand ball of the season was given at the Tuilleries, where it is said the American ladies were decidly the belles of the evening.

I have received copies of your paper, and enjoyed them greatly, not only on account of being from Georgia, but for the Democratic principles therein—our news over here being confined strictly to Radical sources. B. H. H.

A Duel with Swords in New York City.

The New York Herald states that a duel took place in that city on Sunday night, between Mr. Gorge Proude, an Englishman, and Mr. Francisco de Porto, the Cuban who was seriously wounded in a duel with Mr. De Con, the editor of the Spanish journal El Sonista, in Canada, last summer. The case of this last affray arose from certain taunts uttered by Proude on Saturday night, in reference to the conduct of Cubans in New York city, which so enraged De Porto that he spat in Proude's face. Preparations for a hostile meeting were at once entered upon. The Herald says:

STRIPPING FOR THE FRAY.

Ding, dong—it was two o'clock. In the spacious back parlor of the house in question the parties assembled ere the echo of the chimes had died out. Both combatants stripped for the contest, the seconds now and then whispering something to those about to engage. Only about a half dozen persons were present, each one of whom was thrilled by a nervous excitement. A splendid chandelier shed a flood of light around the room, though otherwise the place was excessively cold, so cold indeed, as to necessitate the wearing of a thin walking coat by each of the duelists, both of whom were attired in tight pantaloons, all underclothing being entirely dispensed with. All the arrangements having been completed, the combatants announced their readiness to proceed.

A DEAD SILENCE

ensued, while an ashy paleness seemed to be the prevalent complexion of every man in the room. The word was given and the duelists crossed swords, and having taken three paces backward, the fight commenced. At first, a slight timidity was apparent on both sides—not so much timidity, perhaps, as the nervous expectation incident to the opening of the encounter. Finally, after some little hesitation, De Porto advanced, Proude, meanwhile, on the alert to receive him. The scene was exciting. All at once, the few spectators were startled by a sudden cut made by Proude, at the head of his opponent, who, however, deftly parried, and retired a pace or two. Up to the present, both had observed a comparatively serene demeanor, but it was evident that the duel could not be a prolonged one, each being bent on deadly strife. Having again crossed, great skill was displayed by both, their eyes flashing with fire, and endeavoring, as it were, to penetrate each other's intent.

ADMIRABLE SWORDSMANSHIP

was displayed, the cuts being rapid, well directed and parried with precision. Up to the present, which was about five minutes from the commencement, De Porto had escaped with a slight scratch on the chest. Proude being unharmed, when suddenly De Porto offering a tempting chance, Proude advanced on him and inflicted a diagonal cut upon the right thigh. It was a fatal move for Proude, for no sooner had he leaned forward to make the cut, than, with lightning-like rapidity, De Porto following up the contrafitio, gashed his opponent on the right shoulder, causing a wound some five inches in length, and about one and a half inches in depth. His sword-arm was disabled.

THE DUEL OVER.

Proude dropped his blade, exclaiming, "Enough for to-day; you will give me my revenge another time;" to which De Porto replied:

"I am always at your disposition."

Subsequently the parties shook hands and the wounds were examined. That inflicted on De Porto, though some eight inches in length, was scarcely a quarter of an inch depth, while Proude's was of a serious character, the blood streaming from it in profusion. He was immediately conveyed to his residence in Brooklyn, where proper assistance was procured.

SOCIAL SYCOPHANCY.—The following paragraph does not by any means give one a favorable opinion of Washington society:

The market for invitations here is excellent. Great as is the supply, the demand is greater. Parties arriving here on the afternoon train from New York frequently apply for invitations to receptions to take place the same evening. A young married couple lately sent their cards to a certain lady, who did not immediately respond by an invitation to her next reception. Quite late on the day of the reception they sent their cards again, together with an invitation to their wedding, which had come off a week before. Still receiving no response, they, with admirable presence of mind, attended without one.

SOUTHERN INVENTIONS.—The Hon. S. S. Fisher, Commissioner of Patents in his last annual report, says that one of the most gratifying results of the restoration of peace, and of the introduction of a new system of labor in the South, is found in the increase of applications for patents from that part of the country. During the past year 46 patents were granted to citizens of Alabama, 71 to those of Arkansas, 5 to Florida, 68 to Georgia, 86 to Louisiana, 54 to Mississippi, 44 to North Carolina, 21 to South Carolina, 69 to Tennessee, 44 to Texas, 86 to Virginia, and 37 to West Virginia.

In the class of agriculture, the Examiner reports that "in 1850 the number of applications from the South, as compared with those from the North, was less than two and a half per cent. of the whole number. In 1869 the number of applications from the South was increased to over 23 per cent. of all the cases in my class."

DEATH OF ONE OF THE HARPER BROTHERS.—Mr. Joseph Wesley Harper, one of the firm of Harper Brothers, publishers, of New York, died at his residence, in that city, on Monday morning. Mr. Harper conducted the literary correspondence of the house, and was well known to authors in this country and Europe. The only two surviving of the four brothers who founded the firm are John and Fletcher Harper.

☞ The Revolution, woman's rights organ, says that men kick more under the hands of the dentist than women. The reason for this is that women are exhausted with kicking before they fall into the dentist's hands.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Great Remedies.

DR. JOHN BULL,
Manufacturer and Vendor of the Celebrated
Smith's Tonic Syrup,
FOR THE CURE OF
AGUE AND FEVER,
—OR—
Chills and Fever.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southwestern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. If is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller do-es for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Bull's Worm Destroyer.

To my United States and World-wide Readers.

I have received many testimonials from professional and medical men, as my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following letter from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of BULL'S WORM DESTROYER:

VILLANOW, Walker County, Ga., June 29, 1869.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine direct from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line M. D's but I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of diseases to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,
JULIUS P. CLEMENT M. D

Bull's Sarsaparilla.

A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.

READ THE CAPTAIN'S LETTER AND THE LETTER FROM HIS MOTHER.

BENTON BARRACK'S, Mo., April 20, 1868.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and regenerating qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case:

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not set up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that last is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige.
Capt. C. P. JOHNSON.

P. S.—The following was written April 20, 1868, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Captain Johnson:

DR. BULL—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhœa and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. It cured him. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio and Iowa, for scrofula, fever sores and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article. If so, please write to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover.
Respectfully, JANE JOHNSON

BULL'S CEDRON BITTERS

AUTHENTIC DOCUMENT.

ARKANSAS HEARD FROM.

Testimony of Medical Men

STONEY POINT, White Co., Ark., May 28, 1868.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of Myson-in-law, who was with me in the store, commenced on the Bitters for some time, and soon found his general health improved. Dr. Glist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved. Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—chronic and liver complaint—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters. Indeed, the Cedron Bitters has given great popularity in this settlement. I have a great many great quantity of your medicine. I would sell especially of your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care Hickman & Fowler.

CLOSED.—The offices connected with the Executive Department, will be closed to-day.

COLD WEATHER.—Yesterday morning the thermometer stood at 12, twenty degrees below the freezing point. If the weather gets any colder than that, we don't want to feel it.

THOMPSON'S RESTAURANT.—Thompson's is still the popular resort, because he serves up meals in number-one style. Thompson's is the institution of Atlanta. Long way it wave.

COL. LEWIS TUMLIN.—We were gratified with a visit yesterday, from the old Democratic war-horse, of the 7th District, Col. Lewis Tumlin, of Cartersville. He is one of our solid men, and stands firm to principle and right.

OFF TO AUGUSTA.—Quite a number of firemen went down to Augusta yesterday evening. Among them we noticed our clever friend, M. E. Kenny, who goes down in the interest of his ale depot.

PROMPT ACTION.—The City Council on Friday night adopted the Bellwood grounds as the site for the State Fair. Work commenced there yesterday, in removing the trees and preparing for its improvement.

DR. CRANE will give one of his lectures at the City Hall to-night. All are respectfully invited to attend, and it is hoped the gentleman will have an audience commensurate with his ability.
CITIZENS.

OLD COLONY NURSERIES.—We are indebted to Mr. B. M. Watson, of the Old Colony Nurseries, Plymouth, Mass., for a catalogue of the fruit and ornamental trees, and garden, flower and tree seeds. It is a large establishment, and one that has a standard reputation.

ZEAL WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE.—Some of our brother locals in Rome, are discussing subjects concerning which they have but little practical knowledge. When they gain positive and reliable information about such matters they will hardly engage in a newspaper discussion.

OGLETHORPE.—This is the last week that an opportunity will be afforded our citizens to subscribe to Oglethorpe College. After this week, the books will be closed, and, unless we raise the amount required, we will lose it without remedy. As a business transaction, as a paying institution, our citizens should see that it is located here.

ANOTHER EXCURSION.—The Cincinnati Times states that quite a party of the leading citizens of Cincinnati has been made up to visit the South, taking the same route as that taken by the Green-Liners. We trust that they will come along. We extend them a cordial welcome. Can not St. Louis send a delegation also?

ICE.—The cold snap yesterday caused a thick crust of ice to form on the bay between De Give's Opera House and Bell's Marble Building, on Marietta street. Yesterday men and boys enjoyed themselves in sliding on its glassy surface. Some of them slid on their feet, some on their backs, and a few tried it on their heads, but gave it up as a bad job. One or two made their marks with regular skates.

THE RINK.—This cold snap reminds us that everywhere, though cold, it is a joyous time with all, both old and young, in the most exhilarating sport, skating. And while we have not the ice, how pleasant it is to know that we have ever better, Roller Skating, when we are free from the biting frost. To night is the regular Rink night, and as Messrs. Rawlins and Fenton will be both present, we may expect rare entertainment and much fun.

SILVER is now slowly coming into circulation in the Western cities, so says an exchange; but what has surprisingly and quickly already come into circulation, quickening the intellect, summoning up the blood, purifying the fluids and invigorating the solids of the body, is the artistically and skillfully prepared fluid compound known to the world as Solomons' Bitters.

feb22-d1w

THE HIBERNICON.—De Give's Opera House, last night, was filled with a large and appreciative audience to view the magnificent scenery, hear the fine singing, and behold the capital performances. It was a decided success. The entertainment was for the benefit of the new Catholic church, in this city, and we are pleased to see such an interest manifested in its behalf. We learn that the Hibernicon leaves this morning, for Columbus, and we heartily recommend it to the intelligent and refined citizens of Columbus.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH-DAY.—To-day is set down in the calendar as the 22d of February, and distinguished as the birth-day of an illustrious rebel, George Washington, of Virginia. He was good enough for his day and generation, but would be nowhere in these times. In conformity to an obsolete custom, "ye local" has concluded to celebrate the day at home, because, to-day, ten years ago he signified his adhesion to the Union cause, and entered into the united state, in this city.

"AS GOOD AS MILEAGE."—Yesterday a member of the Smith family, supposed to be a brother of John Smith and a son of the old man, A. Smith, colored member of the Legislature from the county of Muscogee, went an X on a ticket in the lottery, bearing the mystic figures 6, 43 and 45, and it drew $1,200. He walked up to the Captain's office, Mr. C. T. Harden's, in Dunn's cigar store, corner of Peachtree and Decatur street, and drew the money. This streak of good luck was equal to mileage and A. Smith was delighted.

DEATH OF MRS. ROBERT H. BARTON.—We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Robert H. Barton of this city, who expired on Sunday last after a lingering illness of over twenty weeks. Her case was one of marked and peculiar interest. By the overturning of a safe her neck was partially, if not wholly, dislocated. Paralysis ensued. Dr. John M. Johnson, with his acknowledged skill and unsurpassed medical knowledge, endeavored in vain to restore her. It was just such a case as baffled skill and seemed to be in open defiance to established medical facts. She lingered and gradually sunk from exhaustion.

A CHANGE WORKING BADLY.—We learn from a gentleman at West Point, that postal route agents on the Atlanta and West Point Railroad now lie over in Montgomery instead of Atlanta, as heretofore. Whenever they miss a connection at West Point coming this way, there is no route agent next trip from Atlanta, and hence our subscribers along the line of the road fail to get their papers. This was the case on last Saturday, and again on yesterday. But for the thoughtfulness of the postmaster at West Point, our subscribers there would be without the paper to-day. We call the attention of that live special post office agent, Mr. Woodward, to this state of facts, and ask if it can not be remedied.

"BLUE LIGHTS."—C. J. Woodbury, well known as "Earnest," the talented and live educational correspondent of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, will deliver a lecture on "Blue Lights," at DeGive's Opera House, on Friday night next, for the benefit of the Young Men's Library Association of this city. Tickets only fifty cents. Reserved seats can be secured on Friday, by application at the box office, between the hours of 9, A. M., and 5, P. M.

Mr. Woodbury is capable of throwing a charm and interest around any subject. His earnest, polished manner, will assuredly invest his theme with peculiar interest to his hearers. But the mere fact that the proceeds are to be applied for the benefit of one of Atlanta's noblest and cherished institutions, the Young Men's Library Association, ought to fill the Opera House, even if it were a compact piece lecture announced for the occasion. Mr. DeGive, with his accustomed liberality and generosity, tendered his Opera House for the occasion. Long may he wave.

EXPLORATION OF EGYPT.—The discovery of the position of the Seven Library Rolls, until recently, lost to the world, is now attracting only found sale in Europe where they have commanded a price much higher than the ordinary spices of commerce. Observing this great want, and believing that a market could be established at home, the old and enterprising house of C. J. Fell & Bro., of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago, commenced the importation of these finer grades, and have already established a permanent and growing trade. The every day necessities of culinary demands being for the ground article the larger proportion of their imports are in a pulverized state. The difference between these choice selections and the ordinary article is as striking as that between a rich Mocha and a poor 6c. Domingo Coffee, or between the finest of white wheat and the poorest red.

THE WAY THE MONEY GOES.—As an illustration of how the money of the people of Georgia is being squandered, we mention as a fact, that over $17,000 has been paid by the State Treasurer for mileage! To the credit of Mr. Mills, the Secretary of the Senate, and Mr. Newton, Clerk of the House, we state, that only the Constitutional number (seven) of subordinate clerks were paid. But the following unheard of officers in Georgia before, drew from the public treasury as follows:

Ten Pages, $3 per day each,	$ 720 00
Doorkeeper for gallery, $3 per day,	117 00
Sergeant-at-arms, $3 per day,	351 00
Water toter $3 per day,	117 00
Waste toter, $3 per day,	126 00

We would like to be informed under what provisions of the Code or Constitution of Georgia Speaker McWhorter appoints the above officers, defines their pay, and certifies to their claims.

All the members of the Legislature (save Dunlap Scott, of Floyd, who said it looked too much like robbery) drew pay for the whole thirty nine days, twelve days recess and all. The usual rule and the law has been only to draw 75 per cent. of their per diem allowance. Is not this a grab game?

EXPLANATORY CARD.—The sewing machine trial falsely represented in cards and circulars by the Howe agents. Read the truth from Mrs. Edmondson herself:

As there has been circulars and cards published by Messrs. Clark & Hill, the Howe agents in Atlanta, in regard to a test which took place in my house between the Howe and Wheeler & Wilson sewing machines, I feel called to do injustice to the Wheeler & Wilson machine. I deem it my duty to make an explanation, set myself right, and, as far as I am able, to do equal justice to both machines. Both machines remained at my house for several days, and there were several meetings of the agents, and the capacity and merits of both machines thoroughly tested in my presence, and I can cheerfully say the Wheeler & Wilson was equal in every respect to the Howe. I did not make choice of the Howe because it had any priority over the Wheeler & Wilson in point of variety or beauty of workmanship. I am very sorry that my name has been used by the Howe agents, and it was without my authority.
MRS. R. H. EDMONDSON.

Five times the Howe machine, after thorough trial and careful instruction, has been sent back to the Howe agents by the best families in Atlanta, to make way for our new, beautiful, silent and rapid Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine, which took the highest premium at every great fair of the world. Because one lady, for her private reasons, bought their machine instead of the Wheeler & Wilson, the Howe agents have falsely represented the facts, and pushed their lying cards in the noses and faces of every one who would read them in Atlanta, Nashville and other cities.
M. G. WALKER.
Agent for the Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machine, No. 1, DeGive's New Opera House, Atlanta, Ga.

OCCUPATIONAL AILMENTS.—Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted. The nature of the ingredients is no mystery. It consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopoeia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative, and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters; nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand disideratum is supplied in Hostetter's Bitters, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among officinal or advertised medicines.

BY TELEGRAPH.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, February 21.—Revenue receipts to-day, $400,000.

Delano returns on Wednesday.

The Departments close to-morrow in honor of the anniversary.

Two Professors of Howard Freedman's Bureau University have resigned.

After admission, Mississippi will be added to the Department of Louisiana and part of the military division of the South.

Three millions coin interest is due on the 10-40s on the 1st of March.

A bill is pending allowing fine whiskies to remain in bond three years, with a small interest on deferred taxes.

The inflation resolution, which passed the House to-day, will meet with little favor in the Senate.

In the House, among the bills was one introduced abolishing the Bureau of Education, the Freedmen's Bureau, and one incorporating the Mississippi Valley Land and River Improvements. Also, a resolution declaring pork packers not taxable as manufacturers, and directing the taxes collected to be refunded. This created confusion, during which the morning hour expired. The question recurs next Monday.

The Judiciary Committee reported evidence against Judge Busteed, of Alabama, not sufficient cause for impeachment.

The Committee have been discharged from further consideration of the Busteed case.

The disability bill from the Senate, was amended by the House and passed. It returns to the Senate for concurrence.

The Military Committee reported unanimously a resolution expelling Whittemore, of South Carolina, for cadet corruptions.

Adjourned.

The House votes on the Expulsion Bill on Wednesday.

The Supreme Court to-day decided, that the confiscation act of 1862, required the actual seizure of the property and credits libelled, and that the seizure of the debt of the maker of a note to the holder, without the actual arrest of the note itself, was insufficient.

In the Senate, a bill was introduced to declare the ratification of the 15th Amendment.

A bill to abolish the Freedmen's Bureau, and to establish a Bureau of Education, which shall co-operate with all other educational organizations throughout the United States, for the education of all classes, was reported.

The following bills passed:

To sell or exchange the site for a custom house in Nashville, in order to obtain a more suitable location.

To change the boundaries of the collection district of Brazos de Santiago, Texas.

For re-organizing the marine hospital service, and for the relief of sick and disabled seamen.

To provide for an iron light-house, at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

Senate adjourned.

The presence of two Spanish frigates at New York, has been the subject of much exaggerated comment. They will only remain there a few days, and it is believed are on their way to another part for repairs. New York was not selected for that purpose.

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 21.—The Merrimac and Concord are very high. Several roads near Lowell are flooded. Some of the mills are stopped by back-water.

MEMPHIS, February 21.—The steamer Emma, hence for Cincinnati, was snagged at Island 35, burned and sunk. Twelve lives are reported lost. No particulars. A terrible gale prevailed and the weather intensely cold. The Emma shipped 400 bales of cotton here.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 21.—The Legislature resolved that it was inexpedient to elect Senators for the term commencing in 1871; also, that the seat held by Major Benham, of the United States army, on the appeals bench, was vacant.

ST. LOUIS Feb. 21.—The weather is very cold. Navigation North is suspended; South, much impeded.

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 21.—The Senate refused to decide by lot what Senators are to be re-elected this fall. A majority contend that all are to hold over until 1875.

ALEXANDRIA, Feb. 21.—The uniform depth of the Suez canal is nineteen feet.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—The conscripts in camp at Lyons are very disorderly.

Several arrests have been made.

Telegraphic Markets.

NEW YORK, February 21.—Money easy at 5a6. Sterling weak at 8⅞. Gold quiet at 1 18⅞. Governments steady.

Cotton lower; sales 4,500 bales, at 24½ Flour quiet and unchanged, though Southern brands are rather more active. Wheat closed a shade firmer with moderate export and home demand; winter red and amber Western 1 26a1 31. Corn scarce and quite firm for new, for heavy old. Pork drooping, new, 25 75a27 00. Lard drooping; kettle 16a16½c. Whisky firmer, at 93c. Groceries dull. Naval stores firm. Freights dull; cotton by steam ¼c.

CINCINNATI, February 21.—Corn dull at 68a70. Pork 27 50. Bacon unchanged. Lard firm; kettle 15½c.

LOUISVILLE, February 21.—Corn quiet. Provisions firm; clear sides 16¾c. Lard 16c. Whisky 93c.

NEW ORLEANS, February 21.—Receipts of cotton 12,630. Sales 5,000 bales. Stock on hand 244,511. Market dull and heavy.

NORFOLK, February 21.—Receipts of cotton 1,234 bales; exports 1,516 bales; stock on hand 8,443; prices lower. 22½a22¾c.

MOBILE, Feb. 21.—Receipts 1,171 bales; exports coastwise 94 bales. Sales 800 bales; stock on hand 71,180. Market dull.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 21.—Receipts of cotton 898 bales; exports, coastwise, 529 bales; stock on hand 19,571. Market dull and nominal.

SAVANNAH, February 21.—Cotton receipts 888 bales; exports coastwise 49 bales; sales 150 bales; stock on hand 61,493 bales. Market drooping.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—The general market is extremely dull; scarcely anything doing.

LIVERPOOL, February 21, evening.—Cotton—uplands 11¾a11¾; Orleans 11¾; sales 10,000 bales; speculation, and export 2,000 bales. Breadstuffs firmer. Pork flat.

DISSIPATION AND LATE HOURS.—After the festal night comes the miserable next morning, with its headache, its qualms, its gloomy reflections. Business must be attended to; but neither mind nor body is fit for business. What is to be done? How are the energies of the system to be worked up, and its reserves of vitality brought out? How is the clouded brain to be cleared?—the languid and relaxed frame braced up for action? Under such circumstances, a single wine-glassful of PLANTATION BITTERS will bring about an immediate and beneficial change, and a healthful glow will be diffused through the whole organization by the tonic operation of this wholesome cordial.

SEA MOSS FARINA, made from pure Irish Moss, is considered by all who have used it to be a most delightful, healthful and economical food.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY
OF THE AGE!!!
SALVIA'S HAIR COLORING!!
PERFECTLY COLORLESS!!
NO STAIN TO THE SKIN!
CAN BE APPLIED AS WATER!!!
IS PUT UP IN ONE BOTTLE!!!

AN insurmountable objection to most of the Hair Dyes of the day is the fact that they cause, in many instances, serious constitutional effects; as there is not the slightest danger of Palsy, Neuralgia of the Scalp or Face, Colic, Constipation etc.

NO LEAD OR SATURNINE POISON are USED IN
"DR. SALVIA'S HAIR COLORING,"

This EMINENT CHEMIST has, for many years, been endeavoring to create a chemical preparation that would combine the valuable properties of a harmless, reliable coloring, and at the same time render its use impossible to be detected by the closest observation.

In using the ordinary Hair Dyes, the hair presents a dead appearance and is detected at a glance. By the use of this scientific compound, the coloring of the hair is so skillfully modified as to defy detection, thus GIVING TO THE WORLD an article that has been LONG SOUGHT FOR, and one guaranteed to give satisfaction.

It is perfectly Colorless. Does not Stain the Skin or Scalp, and is put up in one bottle.

AN ORDINANCE,
To amend an Ordinance regulating the Markets in the city of Atlanta.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of the City of Atlanta, That sections 226 and 227 of the Code of the city, as contained in the codification of the Ordinances by John T. Glenn, be and the same are hereby repealed; and that it shall hereafter be lawful for any person to sell fresh meats at any place in the city, provided no legal objections have been made thereto by parties doing business in or near said place.

SEC. 2. That all parties keeping meat houses, booths or stalls, be required to pay the regular rearistry tax provided for merchants in the city, and for every quarter of beef five cents; for every quarter of mutton, goat, kid, venison, veal or pork, two and a half cents.

SEC. 3. That the Clerk of the Market shall keep his office at the First Market, and his duties shall be the same as provided in Market Ordinances of the city.

SEC. 4. That all other sections of the Market Ordinances shall be complied with by butchers and other persons selling fresh meats, fish or vegetables under the paint and penalties there provided, and it shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Market to report all violations of these Ordinances to the Mayor and Council.

Passed in Council, February 11, 1870.
WM. EZZARD, Mayor
S. B. LOVE, Clerk.

I will be at the First Market each day from 4 to 6 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of receiving and registering marks and branks and other stock stephens to the city.

A FRAGMENT.

For The Constitution.]

One so grand and high it seemeth are Rooms from our reach for ever,
Words of mine, which we almost made to drift
widely apart,
When there was nothing but love in either proud heart?
Ah, if you had known
How I longed to hear you stay,
Would you have gone so wearily away?
In the gloaming that gathered misty and gray,
Did I hear a tender impassioned tone
Whispering, God bless you, My Own?
And yet, sat there watching, in a mute cold way,
Shadows outside, weaving the shroud of the pale dead day,
I years to throw aside this iron mask,
To place willing hands in your strong tender clasp;
To hear imperious tones that I dare not again defy,
To look into shadowy eyes within which lie
The conquering royal blood!
That I owned under the summer stars one night,
Since my cold pride made you an exile, and sent you from me.
A fragment has come over the waves of the sea—
The penciled lines were sent without a name,
To tell from whom they came;
With a cluster of faded leaves, gathered in Gethsemane:
"Your proud peerless face haunts me wherever I go,
Whether drifting idly on the silvery tides of Arno,
Or climbing the Alps, half sinking amid white wave-like snow.
One look downward, and the splendor of your eyes beams out of the mist below;
I would forget standing beneath St. Paul's vaulted domes,
But out of the purple shadows, your face as mercilessly looms,
Wandering amid the ruins of Imperial Rome,
Gold hair floats near me, and white hands woo me home."
Years have come since the fragment came;
Every life throb of mine is one of pain.
Are you waiting until there will be none to care for your coming again.

Some day you may come back and find not your own Grace,
But lying under misty folds of lace,
A calm white girl's face;
Shadowed by waves of gold hair,
Thrown back from a brow strangely fair,
And the lips that you made so often to quiver with pain,
Would not move at your bidding again;
White hands folded across each other
As if they were herded to smother
Back from the dead heart a cry of passionate pain
When the King stood near it again.

While you wander and wait
Amid Cathedral shadows—when it is all too late—
You may read, that one has died, in a home lizzie,
And would you read it without knowing
Gerald,
That an angel bent over a book with a piteous smile,
And wrote—murdered—a fair trusting child.

While the white lustre of starlight,
Falls down through the night,
I dream of your coming again,
And the past is no longer remembered with its pain;
When trembling I look into a bronze imperious face,
And you call me again your own peerless Grace.
And the brown royal eyes are ashine,
As they look down into the joyous depths of mine;
Gold waves of hair sweep your breast,
And soothed by words at last—I rest.

Then come back to me, darling, king,
Come with the wild violets of spring,
And the shadows will go with the winter gloom,
And the brightness come back shadowless as a summer noon.

A NEW DISCOVERY!!
PHALON'S
"VITALIA;"
OR,
Salvation for the Hair.

CLEAR AS WATER!
WITHOUT SEDIMENT!!
OPEN TO THE LIGHT!!!

For Restoring to Gray Hair its Original Color.

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs utterly from all the hair coloring preparations heretofore used. It is limpid, sweet smelling, precipitates no muddy or slimy matter, requires no shaking, imparts no stain to the skin. Hold it to the light and it is clear and cloudless. It leaves no mark on the scalp; yet it reproduces in gray hair the natural color that time or sickness may have bleached out of it.

☞ Phalon's Vitalia ☜

is for one sole purpose, that of reproducing, with absolute certainty, the natural color of the hair. It is not intended as a daily dressing, nor for removing scurf or dandruff; nor for curing baldness; nor for stimulating the growth of the hair.—These objects may be accomplished after the color has been fixed with the Vitalia, by Phalon's Chemical Hair Invigorator.

THE VITALIA is a harmless and unequaled preparation for the reproduction of the original hue of gray hair, and nothing else. This is accomplished in from two to ten applications, according to the depth of shade required. Sold by all druggists.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE.

WHY is it that so many children die under the age of five years? That a large proportion of children die under that age, has long been a subject of remark, and without a satisfactory cause ascertained, it is certain.
Also, it is known that worms exist in the human system from its earliest infancy; therefore parents, especially mothers, who are more constantly with their children can not be too observing of the first symptoms of worms; for so surely as they exist, can they be safely and certainly removed from the most Delicate Infant, by the timely use of

B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

It is perfectly harmless, contains no Mercury, being a purely Vegetable Composition, and may be administered with the utmost safety to children of all ages.
Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country, but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily.

CAUTION.

Should occasion require you to purchase B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, be particularly careful to see that the initials are B. A. F. Make no article has had been so

Favorably Known Since 1839,

And purchasers must insist on having it, if they do not wish to have an Anvilation forced upon them.

THE WILLINGHAM FERTILIZER FOR COTTON, CORN, WHEAT.

THIS STANDARD MANURE, named after a well known practical Planter of Georgia and South Carolina, combines in a concentrated form all the fertilizing elements necessary for the production of COTTON, CORN and WHEAT, and by its use is certain to increase not only the yield, but to improve the quality of the products. It is made with a special view to the wants of the soils of the South, and can be relied upon as to excellence of material, containing highly necessary substances, the great cost of which have heretofore precluded their being in common use. It can be depended on as uniform, always reliable, and productive of good crops.

ALBANY, GA., September, 1869.

Having a full knowledge of the composition and process of manufacture of the "Willingham Cotton, Corn, Wheat and Rice Fertilizer" I have no hesitation in pronouncing it to be a good reliable fertilizer, one of the best in use, and most particularly adapted to the soil of Georgia and South Carolina.

A New and Superior Variety of Cotton,

WITH FROM 200 TO 300 OPEN BOLLS ON THE STALK.

THE HOLMES EARLY PROLIFIC.

THE EARLIEST MATURING AND LARGEST PRODUCING COTTON KNOWN.

Parties ordering these Seed by the quantity will be supplied at the rate of seven dollars per bushel. Single bushel, eight dollars.
These seed are guaranteed to mature three to four weeks earlier than any other variety.

The Subscriber offers the Seed of the above named Variety of Cotton Recommending it:

1ST. ON Account of its early maturity; and 2d. Its immense yield. This is the first introduction of it into Georgia. It has stood a thorough and severe test on the River Lands of the Mississippi. Four years ago, a few seed (not more than twelve or fifteen) were brought by a traveler from California; and since that time I have been growing and increasing my crops of it, and every season have met with success. It has improved in early maturity and productiveness—in both has proven itself a wonderful variety, and not to myself alone, but to every one who has grown it or seen it grow:

For Want of Space I Can Only Offer a Few Testimonials:

Selma, Ala. July 22, 1869.

DR. H. J. HOLMES—Dear Sir: Your favor of the 9th inst., duly received, and I have delayed writing you, than your early prolific Cotton might further develop what it was likely to do. It has surpassed my expectations, and is the wonder of the farming community, who are watching its daily growth with great anxiety, and is visited by them as they come to town both far and near. The stand is not good, because we planted it sparingly, you recollect; then the cut worm in the spring injured it. It has not yet grown very tall—say four to five feet—but has limbed out from bottom to top—has twice as much cotton, the planters say, as is general on their farms, and full as well matured, although we planted it three weeks later. There are from 100 to 300 bolls now on the stalks. Very truly,
J. F. DENNIS, Cotton Factor.

Selma, Ala., September 4, 1869.

DR. H. J. HOLMES, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: Your favor of the 3d inst., just to hand and contents noted. I am very much pleased with the early prolific Cotton. It has come fully up to the description you gave it. In some instances, there are three bolls to the joint, and from eight to twelve bolls to the limb. But I consider its greatest merit to be its early maturity. I am satisfied my little patch was three weeks earlier than an adjoining lot, planted on the same day mine was, (28th April). I am so pleased to say that the staple is unusually long and fine.
Yours, very truly, W. S. KNOX, Cotton Factor.

Union Springs, Ala., Sept. 6, 1869.

DR. H. J. HOLMES—Dear Sir: The Early Prolific Cotton is fully three or four weeks earlier in its maturity than any other Cotton planted in this neighborhood, at least, it has proved so with the experiment I made with it this year. I planted it Dixon on the 10th of April, and finished on the 17th with Peeler; yours on the 1st May. Your Early Cotton had the first blooms. I shall give it a fair trial the next year, and will give you the result if desired.
Yours, most truly,
E. TROUP RANDALL.

PLANTERS ARE CAUTIONED

Against purchasing from other parties than my authorized Agents, as I have not more than one thousand or twelve hundred bushels of these Seed for Sale.
Specimen stalks of this Cotton, containing 200 to 300 open and grown bolls, are exhibited in the Agricultural Warehouse of SAM. A. ECHOLS, where persons visiting Atlanta are invited to call and examine this Cotton for themselves.
Arrangements are made to supply parties wishing to plant only a small quantity of these Seed, by having them put up in small bags, neatly done up, and sent by Express or as otherwise directed—price $2.
Orders for these small parcels, sufficient to plant three-quarters of an acre, must be made to
